Introduction.

GEORGETOWN COLLEGE is owned and controlled by the "Kentucky Baptist Education Society", membership in which organization is had by the gift of $100 or more to the funds of the College. The Trustees are elected by this Society and they in turn elect the President and Faculty. Three-fourths of the Trustees are always to be active members of regular Baptist Churches.

CHARACTER.—Georgetown College is what it professes to be a Collegiate Institution. It does not pretend to be a University with a Collegiate Course, or a College with a High School course of instruction. While adhering strictly to the sphere and work of a College, its aim is thoroughness of work, and a liberal education for those who are willing to give the necessary time and labor. It does not pretend to qualify its students for the special professions. Its aim is to lay the foundation of strength and liberal culture which is indispensable to a fully developed manhood and womanhood, as well as the highest success in the various professions. It is very important that parents and students should remember that the greatest benefit of a College education does not consist in what is learned, but in the mental training and development that is received. What athletics does for the body, or what the hammer and anvil do for the heated metal, study does for the mind. As steel is forged and tempered before it is made into razors, so ought the intellects of the young to be disciplined before they are permanently set to the various callings of life. The utilitarian and practical spirit of the age has clearly over-reached itself in objecting to many things that are taught in a College course, because they will be of no use in the business of after-life. If a young man or woman does not need Greek or Astronomy, aye, if he forget them, the intellectual strength and discrimination remain. The razor does not need the tempering heat or the hammer after it has been perfected; but razors cannot be made at all without heat and hammer. Neither can any one rise to his best without the discipline and culture of a liberal education.

LOCATION.—Georgetown College has all that could be desired as to its location. It is free from the many and strong vices that beset a city, and from the inconveniencies of the country. The town itself is one of the prettiest in the State, besides being situated in the "Bluegrass" of Kentucky, a part of the State that, for loveliness, fertility of the soil, and the culture of its people, is, perhaps, unsurpassed in the whole country.

HISTORY.—Georgetown College, established under a charter granted by the Kentucky Legislature in 1829, has had an honorable and useful career. It is one of the oldest institutions of learning in the valley of the Mississippi. Hundreds of young men have gone forth from its walls and, from New England to Texas, many of them are filling honored positions in Church and State, as well as other vocations of life. The College seeks no more exalted praise than the character of its sons.

ACCESSIBILITY.—Georgetown College is on the line of the Queen & Crescent railroad, within two hours' ride of Cincinnati, Ohio, and eight hours' ride of Chattanooga, Tenn. It is accessible from Louisville by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, via Frankfort or Midway, or by the Louisville Southern. It is also on the line of the Kentucky Midland railroad. There are few places in the State, or in the South, more accessible than Georgetown.

CHURCHES.—There are in the town six Protestant denominations, with houses of worship and able ministers, and students can find religious privileges corresponding to their own forms of belief. Georgetown College is a Christian institution, under the control of the Baptist denomination of Kentucky. In its conditions of admission, of honorable standing, or of graduation, and in its courses of instruction, no religious tests are imposed. It was founded by godly men who believed that learning and piety should go hand in hand, and that students need the ægis of Christian influence while pursuing their education.

HEALTHFULNESS.—There is no more healthful part of the country than the "Blugrass" region of Kentucky. It is free from all malarial influences and troubles. The natural drainage of Georgetown is such that every hard rain washes the streets of the town entirely clean. A more desirable location in point of healthfulness can not be found.

ORGANIZATION.

The College is organized into the following separate departments. Information as to courses leading to Degrees may be obtained from the Synopsis.

1. English Language and Literature.
2. Latin Language and Literature.
3. Greek Language and Literature.
4. Modern Languages and Literature.
5. Mathematics and Physics.
6. Chemistry and Biology.
7. History and Political Science.
8. Philosophy and Bible.
9. Music.
10. The Normal Department.
11. Art Department.
12. Elocution and Physical Culture.

COURSES OF STUDY.

In the following pages the courses of study in the various departments are set forth without any effort to suggest the order in which each course should be taken. In planning a course for any degree, the student should carefully consult the Schedule of Recitations and Synopsis of Courses.

I. English Language and Literature.

PROFESSOR METCALF.

The requirements for admission to this department are:

(1). A good knowledge of English Grammar and Elementary Rhetoric.

(2.) The ability to write good English.

(3.) Familiarity with some of the simpler English and American classics.

The courses of study in the department fall into four groups, each of which requires a year for completion. Groups I and II are necessary for all degrees; Groups III and IV are required in the "English-Historical Course," and Group IV in the "English-Scientific Course."

I.—1. General Introduction to English Literature.—A course in the History of English Literature supplemented by the careful study of a number of annotated classics in prose and verse. Written reports on work specially assigned for private reading and study. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Text-books.—Halleck's History of English Literature, Annotated editions of the English classics.

2. Rhetoric and Composition.—Instruction in the theory and practice of composition. A detailed examination of typical examples of narration and description as a preparation for theme-writing. The principles thus gained are applied in the writing of short weekly themes. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Text-book.—Newcomer's Elements of Rhetoric.

II.—1. Shakespeare and the Elizabethan Drama.—A critical study of four or five of Shakespeare's Tragedies supplemented by written reports on the following plays assigned for private reading: Kyd's Spanish Tragedy, Marlowe's Doctor Faustus and Edward II, Ben Jonson's Volpone. Daily during first term.

Text-books.—Sidney Lee's Shakespeare's Life and Work, Dowden's Primer, Kent's Shakespeare Note-Book, the Arden or Rolfe's edition of the plays.

The Department Library is well supplied with the more important works in Shakespeare Criticism and with the principal plays of the Elizabethan dramatists.

2. The Later Poetry of Milton.—Paradise Lost I-IV, Paradise Regained I-II, Samson Agonistes. Selections from the Iliad, the Æneid and the Greek Drama assigned for parallel reading. Required collateral reading on which written reports will be expected: Paradise Lost V-XII, Paradise Regained III-IV. Daily for twelve weeks.

Text-books.—Brooke's Milton, Macmillan's ed. P. L. I-IV, Deighton's P. R., Percival's or Collins' Samson Agonistes. Numerous reference books on Milton, together with Masson's edition of the poet's works, in department library.

3. Victorian Prose.—Several representative prose writers of the latter half of the Nineteenth century will be studied in a few typical selections. A certain amount of collateral reading will be required and a larger amount recommended. Reports and discussions. Daily for eight weeks.

III.—1. The English Essay.—The rise and development of the English Essay. The study of a number of selections from Bacon to Macaulay, supplemented by much reading. Each member of the class will be assigned some nineteenth century essayist for special study. Thrice weekly for ten or twelve weeks.

2. Browning's Shorter Poems and Dramas.—Corson's Introduction to Browning will be used in connection with Rolfe's and other annotated selections from the poet's works. Written reports on different phases of Browning's art and influence. Thrice weekly for three months.

3. Shelley and Keats.—A study of some of the longer poems of Shelley and Keats. Collateral reading and written reports. Thrice weekly for three months. Throughout the courses in this group Winchester's Principles of Literary Criticism is the text-book.

Groups I and II are expected to be taken before Group III.

IV.—1. Old English (Anglo-Saxon).—Three months of introductory study in Cook's First Book in Old English will be followed by the careful reading of one complete poem, either Beowulf (Wyatt's ed.) or Cynewulf's Elene (Kent's ed.). Daily. During the past year the class read Beowulf.

2. Middle English and the History of the English Language.—Sweet's First Middle English Primer, Liddell's edition of Chaucer's Prologue, Knight's Tale and Nun's Priest's Tale. Skeat's Langland's Piers Plowman. Thrice weekly for four months.

Toller's History of the English Language. Twice a week for three or four months.

II. Latin Language and Literature.

PROFESSOR FOGLE.

The requirements for admission into this department are: (1.) An accurate knowledge of the forms and leading principles of Latin Syntax. (2.) The ability to translate sentences from English into Latin, illustrating the more prominent constructions. (3.) Nepos, Cæsar's Gallic War (four books) and Sallust's Cataline or Jugurtha.

These requirements will be rigidly adhered to. Equal emphasis is put upon the study of Latin as a means of mental discipline and as an element in literary culture. In the latter part of the course the literary side of the language is particularly dwelt upon. The purpose is to make the student feel the vitality of the literature. This is brought about by extensive reading based on a careful study of the language itself. Great importance is attached to written exercises.

The course for 1901-1902 will be as follows:

Junior Class.

First Term.—(1.) The critical study of five or six of Cicero's Orations; Virgil's Aeneid begun, or Ovid's Metamorphoses (selections.) (2.) Rapid review of Grammar as far as Syntax. (3.) Prose composition based on Cicero's Orations read in class, once a week.

Second Term.—Virgil's Aeneid continued (four or five books);

Livy, Book XXI.; Prose Composition based on Livy XXI., once a week. As much sight-reading as practicable.

Senior Class.

FIRST TERM.—(1.) Tacitus, Agricola and Germania; Horace, Odes and Epodes (selections), Ars Poetica. (2.) Prose composition weekly. (3.) Wilkins' Roman Antiquities, once a week. (4.) Sight reading.

SECOND TERM.—(1.) Cicero's Letters (selections); the Captivi of Plautus and the Phormio of Terence; six or eight satires of Juvenal; Pliny's Letters (selections), or one or two books of the Annals of Tacitus. (2.) Wilkins' Roman Literature, once a week. (3.) Private reading, Livy, Book XXII., and Cicero's De Senectute.

Text-books.—Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar, Harper's Latin Lexicon, Smith's English-Latin Dictionary, Smith's or Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Kiepert's Atlas.

III. GREEK LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

PROFESSOR TERRELL.

The requirements for matriculation in this course are: White's Beginner's Greek Book, Goodwin's Grammar and four books of Xenophon's Anabasis or an equivalent.

The course for 1901-1902 will be as follows:

Junior Class.

FIRST SESSION.—(1.) Eight Orations of Lysias; Plato, Apology and Crito.

SECOND SESSION.—(1.)—Homer, Iliad, 18-24. (2.) Private Reading, Xenophon's Hillenica, I-II. (3.) Prose Composition.

Senior Class.

FIRST SESSION.—(1.)—Demosthenes, On the Place, Phil. II-III, Chersonese, Thucydides, Bk. I, Aeschylus, Seven against Thebes.

SECOND SESSION.—(1.) Aristophanes, Clouds. (2.) Sophocles, Oedipus Rex, Euripides, Medea. (3.) Private Reading, Euripides, Alcestis. (4.) Prose Composition.

Lectures on the History of Greek Literature, with special reference to the authors read, will be given, and special topics in classical antiquities for essays assigned the students each year.

Text-books.—Goodwin's Greek Grammar, Highley's Greek Prose Composition, Liddell and Scott's Greek Lexicon, Kiepert's Atlas.

IV. Modern Languages.

PROFESSORS FOGLE AND TERRELL.

French.—(I.) The Junior Class completes Part I of Whitney's Grammar. Frequent practice in prose composition and conversation. Sight reading is begun early in the course and continued throughout. The following books are read during the year: Super's French Reader, Halevy's L'Abbe Constantin, Merimee's Colomba, Hugo's La Chute.

(II.) The Senior Class completes Part II of Whitney's Grammar and reads extensively in modern and classic French Literature. Prose composition weekly during first term. The following books are read in class during the year: Victor Hugo's Quatre-vingt-treize, Balzac's Eugenie Grandet, Moliere's L'Avare, Corneille's Le Cid, Hugo's Ruy Blas and Hernani, Zola's La Debacle.

Private Reading and Composition.—Each pupil is required to read additional, as private reading, at least one book of every author read in class, and to present a written or oral report upon it to the class. In this way the principal works of Corneille, Racine, Moliere, Balzac and a large number of novels and plays have been read and discussed by the class and a general survey of French Literature accomplished. The course will be conducted almost entirely in French.

Text-books.—Whitney's French Grammar, Heath's or Gasc's Dictionary.

German.—(I.) The Junior Class completes the Joynes-Meissner German Grammar, Huss's Reader, Grimm's Maerchen (at sight), and Schiller's Wilhelm Tell. Prose composition once weekly and practice in conversation five times weekly.

(II). The Senior Class will read Lessing's Minna von Barnhelm, Schiller's Die Jungfrau von Orleans, and Goethe's Faust. Private Reading: Heyse's L'Arrabbiata, Hiller's Hoeher als die Kirche, Storm's Immensee.

There will be exercises in prose composition once weekly. For this a text-book will be used during the first half-year. Subsequently prose selections will be read aloud in German to the class and each student will be required to give a German version of the same.

Text-books.—Joynes-Meissner German Grammar, Huss's German Reader, Heath's or Whitney's German Dictionary. Other text-books will be announced later.

V. Mathematics and Physics.

PROFESSOR RUCKER.

The course of study in this department embraces three years in Mathematics, and one year in Physics, as follows:

Junior Class.—This class will begin with Quadratic Equations in Higher Algebra, to be followed by Plane Geometry.

Intermediate Class.—This class will begin with the Geometry of Space, to be followed by Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Surveying and some field practice in Engineering.

Senior Class.—This year's work will be in Astronomy and Analytical Geometry.

In applied Mathematics much time is spent in practice on the field. To enter this department, in advanced classes, the student will be examined in all branches preceding the point at which he proposes to enter.

Physics.—The apparatus belonging to the Department has been thoroughly repaired and put in fine working order and to this have been added many pieces of modern apparatus of the most approved patterns.

The method of instruction is to have thorough work done in the text-book and every principle illustrated in the Laboratory.

As books of reference we have many of the best and most recent authors on Theoretical and Experimental Physics.

Text-books.—Sensenig's Algebra, Phillips and Fisher's Geometry, Wentworth's Trigonometry, Davies' Surveying, Newcomb and Holden's Astronomy, Peck's Analytical Geometry, Gage's Elements of Physics.

Bridgeton Evening Club

VI. Chemistry and Biology.

PROFESSOR EASTWOOD.

Instruction in this department will be embraced in the following courses:

Physiology, Zo-ology and Botany.—This is an elementary text-book course, continuing through the session.

Chemistry and Geology.—An advanced course, continuing as above. The text-books in both sciences will be fully illustrated by experiments and the study of rocks, fossils, skeletons, and models, with which the department is amply provided.

III. Practical Chemistry.—This will embrace the following exercises:

1. A course in mineralogy including blowpipe determinations, &c.

2. A study of the physical and chemical properties of the elementary gases.

3. A study of metals, especially with reference to their physical properties; as, relative weights, hardness, solubility, history and commercial uses.

4. A careful study of the chemical properties of the elements, their compounds and the laws governing their formation. We include here a large number of problems and reactions, especially exercises in oxidation and reduction.

5. A short course of lectures in Organic Chemistry, by which the student will be made acquainted with the principles of classification and with the most important substances embraced under this head.

Elementary Biology.—A course designed especially for such as may subsequently study medicine.

A charge of two dollars and fifty cents will be made in courses 2 and 4 for chemicals and the use of instruments.

Text-books.—Cooper's Animal Life on Land and Sea, Thompson's Study of Animal Life, Bessey's Briefer Course in Practical Botany, Gray's School and Field Book, Willis' Physiology, Scott's Geology.

VII. History and Political Science.

I. Greek and Roman History.—A required course in Ancient history, both Oriental and Classical, intended as introductory to Universal history. Special attention is given to the constitutional development of Greece and Rome. Class drill in Text-books, interspersed with lectures and essays on special topics assigned to the students.

Text-books.—Sheldon's General History, Myers' Ancient History, and Collateral Authorities. Twice a week.

II. Mediæval and Modern History.—This is a course in General European History from the fall of Rome to the present time. Lectures and topical work are freely used in connection with class drill in the Text-books.

Text-books.—Myers' Mediæval and Modern History and Sheldon's General History, with varied collateral reading. Three times a week.

Course I. is expected to be taken before Course II.

III. Political Science.—The object of this course is to study the Science of Politics with especial reference to the development of the political institutions of the United States; to put these institutions in their true historical setting and make them throw light on the general science of Government. A brief course of lectures on International Law will close the course. Twice a week throughout the year.

Text-books.—Fiske's Civil Government, Alexander Johnston's History of American Politics.

IV. Political Economy.—This course includes the study of the general principles of Political Economy in the Text-book, and also lectures on the development of economic thought, and special study of modern economic problems under the guidance of the instructor. During the session a course in Finance will be given. The Text-book is Walker's Advanced Political Economy. Three times a week throughout the year.

V. American History.—This is a course for advanced students who take either the English-Historical or English-Scientific course. It will consist of a careful examination of the sources of American Colonial and Constitutional History with lectures and topical work upon special documents and periods.

Text-books.—Channing's Students' History of the United States,

Hart's American History told by Contemporaries. Three times a week throughout the year, provided as many as three students apply for it.

VIII. Philosophy and Bible.

PROFESSOR AYRES.

I. PHILOSOPHY.—The courses of study in this department are designed to cover, both historically and constructively, the various subjects of Philosophy. Attention is called to fundamental problems, so that what is done may serve as an introduction to general philosophical study. Informal lectures, frequent discussions in the class, and passages from various authors assigned for reading are largely relied upon in the presentation. Text-books are used, however, as affording definite material of acquisition. Each member of the class is expected to prepare one essay.

(1). Logic.—Three months. This course is designed to utilize the valuable discipline inherent in the study of the science of thought, and to familiarize the student with the forms of reasoning so as to enable him to apply these forms to arguments by way of testing their truth or falsity.

Text-book.—Creighton's Logic.

(2). Psychology.—Four months. The course is based on Titchner's Outline of Psychology, with frequent reference to James, Baldwin and Ladd.

(3). Ethics.—Three months. The work in Ethics is mainly confined to theoretical and historical aspects of the subject. Especial attention is given to the theories of Aristotle, Kant, Mill, Spencer, and Martineau.

Text-book.—Thilly's Ethics.

(4). History of Philosophy.—One hour each week throughout the year.

Text-book.—Weber's History of Philosophy.

(5). Aesthetics.—This course is intended for students in the Fine Arts Course. It aims to bring out the philosophical idea of the beautiful and allied conceptions and help toward an intelligent comprehension of the Fine Arts. The following courses are offered:

(a). History of Music and its relation to other Arts, one hour each week.

(b). Harmony and Counterpoint, one hour.

(c). The great Art forms, especial attention being given to the analysis of the symphonies of Beethoven, and the Music Dramas of Wagner. One hour.

(d). The theory of the beautiful.

Text-books.—Parry's Evolution of the Art of Music, Emery's Harmony, Ayres' Counterpoint, Mathew's Form, Santayana's Sense of the Beautiful.

II. BIBLE.—Studies in the Historical Books of the Bible.

(a). Outline History of Israel. Laws, ideas, customs, individual and social life of the Hebrews, Ethical teaching of the Prophets, and Sages. Five months.

(b). Life of Christ and Apostolic Age. General View of Christian Ethics.

IX. Department of Music.

I. Piano.

MISS WESTLAKE.

The regular College Course calls for two lessons a week throughout the four years.

FIRST YEAR.

1. Four of Mendelssohn's "Songs without words."
2. Selected Studies.
3. Four Schubert Impromptus.
4. Miscellaneous Compositions from Chamminade and others.

SECOND YEAR.

1. Selected Studies.
2. Two Preludes and Fugues from Bach's Well-tempered Clavier.
3. Two Beethoven Sonatas.
4. Four Nocturnes of Chopin.
5. Selected Modern Compositions.

THIRD YEAR.

1. Selected Studies.
2. Three Preludes and Fugues, Bach,

3. Two Beethoven Sonatas.
4. Two Polonaises of Chopin.
5. Two Schumann Novelettes.
6. Selected Modern Compositions.

FOURTH YEAR.

1. Selected Studies.
2. Two Beethoven Sonatas.
3. One Chopin Ballade.
4. Four Schumann's Kreisleriana.
5. Selections from Brahm's Grieg, Rubinstein and others.

II. Voice.

MISS DORST.

FIRST YEAR.

1. Voice development and breathing.
2. Selected exercises.
3. English Songs, with special attention to articulation and phrasing.

SECOND YEAR.

1. Selected Vocalises.
2. German pronunciation and phrasing.
3. Three Schubert Songs.
4. Three Rubinstein Songs.
5. Selections from other Song-writers.

THIRD YEAR.

1. Advanced Vocalises.
2. Italian Pronunciation.
3. Two Italian Arias.
4. Six French Songs.
5. Miscellaneous Songs.

FOURTH YEAR.

1. One Italian Aria.
2. Two German Arias.
3. Study of Oratorios and Operas.
4. Selected Classic and Modern Songs.

Fine Arts Course.

A new course leading to the degree of A. B. has been arranged in order that Music may be included as one of the College Studies. This course is open to Students of Piano or Voice in the regular Courses. (See Fine Arts Course.)

The Department of Music will give a recital on the first Monday night in each month, thus enabling the students to hear many of the best works of the masters.

Each candidate for graduation in the Fine Arts Course will be expected to give a satisfactory recital during the senior year.

X. Normal Department.

PROFESSOR SMITH, PRINCIPAL.

The results of the work in this department are encouraging. Last year an enthusiastic interest prevailed throughout the term. We emphasize, not so much the acquisition of knowledge, but growth. We believe with Hulbert that the important question is, "not how much a man knows, but how much he is."

The next term will begin January 28, 1902, and continue seventeen weeks.

A thorough and systematic study of all the Common School branches will be required. Special classes will be organized in all the common branches, including Educational Psychology and higher Arithmetic. The work in all these, both as to matter and method, will be carefully presented.

Those desiring to prepare for a State certificate may also enter the regular college classes in English Literature, Algebra and Composition.

Along with the other work we aim to develop some clear conception of mind-activity and growth, known as educational psychology. We endeavor to accomplish this by guiding our pupils in the study of their own minds. This was one of the most happy and successful features of our work last year.

The student is expected to rise above mere devices. Independent thinking is the best means of acquiring mental strength; therefore self-reliant and independent thought is cultivated throughout the term.

EXPENSES.—Free tuition is allowed to teachers, but they are required to pay the matriculation fee of $5.00. Room rent and board are the same as for other students, except that mature young women are permitted, under proper conditions, to board in private families.

The gymnasium is optional to teachers, but the benefits to be derived from it are so great that all are urged to take it.

A special circular of general information will be prepared a little later on, which may be had on application.

XI. ART DEPARTMENT.

MISS LEWIS, INSTRUCTOR.

The design of this department is to assist in cultivating a refined taste and to develop critical ability.

The instruction will embrace Drawing in charcoal from blocks and casts, Oil Painting, China Painting, Water Colors, etc.

For terms see table of expenses.

XII. ELOCUTION AND PHYSICAL CULTURE.

MISS ARMSTRONG, INSTRUCTOR.

To be able to speak and read well is a rare accomplishment. The object of this department is to aid in acquiring this most beautiful art. Classes will be formed in Expression and Public Speaking, and instruction will also be given privately. For terms see table of expenses.

The text-books used will be Lessons in Vocal Expression, Curry; Principles of Vocal Expression, Clark.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

The above courses are combined into groups leading to the various degrees, of which the college now offers three, viz: Master of Arts, Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. There are four different groups of studies, each requiring about four years for its completion, leading to the degree of A. B., two of less length leading to the degree of B. S. The A. M. degree is conferred upon one who has completed one year's work of not less than eighteen hours a week in addition to the work required for any of the A. B. courses.

The various courses and degrees will be made clearer by study of the following Synopsis of Courses and Degrees:

GEOGRAPHY.—Maury's Physical, Finished.

The course of instruction is as follows:

I.—MATHEMATICS.

ARITHMETIC.—There are five classes in Arithmetic. The lowest class is for pupils who have finished Multiplication and Division. In each class a daily review, conducted by means of blackboard exercises and Mental drill is given. This plan is pursued until all the principles are clearly understood.

ALGEBRA.—There are two classes in Algebra. The pupil is started in Milne's High School and is drilled thoroughly in the rudiments before taking up Simple Equations, etc. After finishing the Shorter Course, Higher Algebra is taken up and the pupil is taken to Quadratic Equations.

II.—ENGLISH BRANCHES.

These include Geography, History, Grammar, Composition, Rhetoric, Spelling, Reading and American Literature.

The course in English is complete and thorough. The pupil begins with "Language Lessons;" then Grammar is taken up and the pupil is drilled thoroughly in Parsing, Analyzing and Diagramming. Then follow Rhetoric and Literature. The pupil in history begins with Montgomery's Primary, and is required to take Montgomery's Advanced History of the United States and England, and Kinkead's History of Kentucky.

III.—LATIN.

If possible, the pupil should begin the study of Latin about the age of thirteen. Pupils of that age begin Latin in Grade IV, but those young men who come from a distance begin Latin also in Grade IV, going fast enough to do in two years what the younger pupil does in three. In the lower classes, the pupil is required to construe an English Exercise into Latin and submit to the Instructor for correction or approval. In the higher classes, the pupil is thoroughly drilled in Syntax, and he must be able to render English sentences into idiomatic Latin before leaving this department and entering College.

IV.—GREEK.

The study of Greek is begun in Grade IV. In the lower classes daily exercises, English into Greek and Greek into English, are required. In the higher classes the pupil is drilled thoroughly in Syntax, and he must be able to translate English into Greek before leaving this department.

SPECIAL COURSE.

A special English course is provided for those who do not wish to enter College. Many pupils, who come to us for a Collegiate course, are hindered by a lack of proper preparation. Parents are urged to give particular attention to this matter. If there is no good Academy near them, it will save time and money to send their sons or daughters at once to Georgetown. All students should be present at the opening of the session. Late entrance is always injurious. Before entering any of the higher classes in this department, the student must stand a satisfactory examination, or furnish some other evidence of preparation satisfactory to the teacher.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST.—The Declamatory Medal was awarded this year to Miss Anne Askew, Georgetown, Ky.

TERMS.—A matriculation fee of five dollars is charged all pupils. For further information on terms see Expenses.

AFFILIATED SCHOOL.

BARDSTOWN MALE AND FEMALE INSTITUTE.

PROFESSOR H. J. GREENWELL, PRINCIPAL.

This school, belonging to the Nelson County Association, has been so affiliated with Georgetown College that its graduates are entitled to enter, without examination, the classes of the College for which their work at Bardstown has fitted them.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION.

THE LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.

The Library now contains more than twelve thousand volumes, many of them rare and costly. Valuable additions are made annually from the interest of the Newton and Dudley funds. The commodious quarters provided for the Library afford a fine opportunity for an efficient administration of its contents, so that the freest access to the books is offered to the students of the College, whether for reading in the Library or in their rooms.

In the handsome hall of the Library will be found the R. M. Dudley Reading-room, where the cream of the current periodical literature of this country and Europe has been provided for the use of the Faculty and students. This is open daily from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 m., and from 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

The Assistant Librarian is expected to preserve order and keep a record of all books taken from the Library.

LABORATORY.

The Chemical and Biological Laboratories are amply supplied with the most approved apparatus for all of the courses offered in the catalogue, and the character of the work demanded will be of the highest order.

By means of dissections of lower forms in the Biological Laboratory, skeletons, anatomical models and alcoholic specimens, especial attention will be given to teachers who desire a more thorough and practical knowledge of physiology.

LITERARY SOCIETIES AND Y. M. C. A.

There are three Literary Societies—The Ciceronian, the Tau-Theta-Kappa, and the Euepian. The Ciceronian and Tau-Theta Kappa have large and handsomely furnished new Halls, with extensive and well-selected libraries in the new College building. These two are conducted by the young men. The Euepian Society, composed of young ladies, has a handsome hall in Rucker Hall. Each Society has weekly debates, recitations, select readings, etc., in which much interest is taken, and which are means of great improvement to their members. Besides these, they have occasional public entertainments, attended by invited audiences.

There is also a Young Men's Christian Association for all students, to aid them in the culture of piety and Christian activity. A room is provided for them in Chapel Hall. The Association has been active and very useful during this year.

These are valuable auxiliaries in promoting the advancement of the students in the more popular and practical bearing of their education and morality.

TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Parents and guardians who live at a distance are urged to appoint some one to act as the fiscal guardian of their children and wards at College, giving him the entire right to regulate their expenditures. This course would check extravagance in expenditures on the part of the students, injurious to the College and all concerned. Any member of the Faculty will act when requested.

STUDENT LIFE IN COLLEGE.

The wise ancient moralist, Seneca, on a review of his life was led to complain of his teachers that they taught him "HOW TO THINK," rather than "HOW TO LIVE." Acting upon the suggestion of this, one of the wisest men of the old time, it shall be the special endeavor of the officers of this College to inculcate correct views of life and duty to the young men and women entrusted to them. College life is, in an important sense, the first venture of hundreds of young people upon the stage of self-government. If the venture is successful, it argues and in a sense, secures success on the broader stage of life. The co-operation of patrons and the prayers of praying people are hereby solicited for the success of this endeavor.

THE GYMNASIUM.

The College has a large Gymnasium built of brick and of the best modern design and arrangement. It has a visitors' gallery and a running track, 12 feet from the floor. In the basement is a swimming pool, several tubs and showers, and one hundred and twenty-four lockers. The gymnasium has been furnished with a magnificent outfit. The general verdict is that Georgetown has one of the finest Gymnasiums in the South.

The transition from an active to a sedentary life is a strain upon the health of anyone, and vigorous exercise is a sure prophylactic. This the Gymnasium will afford. It tends to keep the body in good, healthy and vigorous condition. Every year there are students that break down from confinement and study, and leave College; but this rarely occurs with the closest and best students who exercise in the Gymnasium. Recognizing this, the Faculty has decided to require all the students to take regular exercise in Gymnasium under the guidance of the Director. A nominal fee of five dollars a year will be charged.

Adjacent to the College campus is a fine athletic field, arranged in a manner suitable for all kinds of outdoor sports, such as foot-ball, base-ball, running, jumping, vaulting, hurdling, etc. There is a quarter-mile track on the grounds, and the Diamond is one of the best in the State.

MINISTERIAL STUDENTS.

Ministerial students are instructed without charge for tuition. These must bring a certificate of license, or a letter of recommendation from their church when they first present themselves for admission. No young minister should think of leaving home for college until he has received a fair common school education.

Such a student will not be retained any longer than he evinces true piety and encouraging improvement in his studies, and as tuition is gratis, a note of obligation to refund with interest, the amount of tuition received, shall be taken each session, which shall be of force only where the deportment shall disappoint, or where the ministry shall be abandoned or made subordinate to some secular pursuit. Assistance is given to those who have no means, and who can give good recommendations as to their piety and aptness to learn. The President invites correspondence with young men who are impressed with the duty of preaching the Gospel and desire the advantage of an education.

Application for aid must be made and acted upon by the Board before the student leaves his home.

REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL STUDENTS.

1. The hours of study are from eight to half-past twelve in the forenoon, from two to five in the afternoon, and from seven to ten in the evening. During these hours no student is permitted to be out of his room, except the necessary time for his recitations.

2. EXAMINATIONS.—The examinations of the College are, for the most part, by written questions and answers. All students are placed upon their honor in examinations, and any fraud will be severely punished.

3. Every student is expected to attend the daily devotional exercises in the College Chapel; also, public worship at some church on Sunday.

4. Every student shall regularly and punctually attend all his recitations.

5. Students should obtain the approbation of the Faculty in the choice of a boarding-house, and no one will be permitted to change it without the previous permission of the President.

6. No student will be permitted to be absent from his rooms after seven o'clock at night, without leave, except to attend church, or the voluntary societies connected with the College.

7. No student will be permitted to leave the town on any pretext whatever, during term time, without previous permission from the President.

8. No student will be permitted to enter upon the grounds or premises of other persons, so as to molest or injure property; or to associate with idle or vicious company; or to engage in a frolic of a noisy, disorderly or immoral nature.

9. Damage done to any part of the College property must be repaired by the offender.

10. No student shall receive an honorable dismission from the College who does not regularly and punctually perform all his prescribed duties up to date of his asking for it; and, if he is a minor, he must present to the President the written consent of his parent or guardian, at the time of asking.

11. No student shall absent himself from the examination of any class to which he belongs, unless he be previously excused.

12. Every student must have at least three recitations a day, in the choice of which he will be aided by the Faculty.

PAWLING HALL AND SEMINARY.

Dormitories for Young Men.—Pawling Hall and the Seminary are provided as boarding Halls for young men. Each Hall has its own Club, with officers and matron. The rules of the club are strict with reference to good order and cleanliness, and young men not willing to comply conscientiously with the regulations are requested not to apply for places. The cost of board for the past year, including room rent, did not exceed nine dollars per month Pawling Hall accommodates about sixty. The Seminary about seventy-five.

Mr. W. P. Dickey has been in charge of the Seminary Club as President, and Mrs. Sallie Richards as Matron. Mr. L. T. Wright and Miss Fannie Shropshire have occupied similar positions in Pawling Hall.

RUCKER HALL.

THE BOARDING DEPARTMENT FOR YOUNG LADIES.—Rucker Hall, named in honor of Prof. J. J. Rucker, was built in 1895. It is the school home for girls, and is presided over by Mrs. Alice R. Bristow. It is a modern, three-story brick structure, and is equipped throughout with bath rooms and hot and cold water; is heated with steam and lighted by electricity. The rooms are neatly and comfortably furnished.

All young ladies not residents of Georgetown ARE REQUIRED TO BOARD AT THE HALL, and their parents may feel assured that their welfare will be zealously guarded. It is our aim to surround them with refined, christian influences, such as will elevate their character and inspire them to a noble, useful womanhood.

To insure the most perfect discipline, Rucker Hall, as far as possible, is made self-governing. Pupils are thrown much upon their own sense of right and honor, being allowed every liberty consistent with the highest good of the whole, until that liberty is abused.

Simplicity of dress is encouraged, and in order that all the girls may appear to equal advantage, they will be required to wear to church and on all public occasions, dresses of uniform color and make.

Each young lady is required to take regular exercise, INCLUDING THE GYMNASIUM, unless excused by written advice of her physician. She must provide herself with an inexpensive gymnasium suit.

Each young lady must supply herself with a water-proof cloak, overshoes and umbrella; napkins, napkin-ring, towels toilet-articles, and also a tea spoon for bed-room use.

Board at Rucker Hall, including room rent, heat, lights, laundry and free admission to the gymnasium, is $160.00 per school year of 40 weeks, PAYABLE IN ADVANCE, half at the opening of school in September and the other half in January. In case of withdrawal from College, the money for the unexpired portion of the year will be refunded. No deduction will be made for absence for the first two weeks of the session, nor for absence thereafter for a period of less than four weeks, nor for Christmas vacation and other holidays.

Young ladies are allowed one dozen plain pieces in the laundry per week, a wash dress being counted as two pieces. Extra pieces above one dozen are charged at the rate of 50 cents per dozen.

All articles of clothing MUST BE PLAINLY MARKED with the owner's full name. Unmarked clothes are marked in the laundry at a charge of 5 cents per article.

All defacement of walls, breakage or damage done to furniture, etc., will be charged to the one doing the damage. If the offender cannot be found, it will be charged to the occupants of the room.

Parents are URGENTLY REQUESTED NOT TO SEND BOXES of eatables other than fresh fruit. The table will be bountifully supplied with good, wholesome food.

There will be no charge for the occasional visits from parents or guardians. For other visitors to the Hall a reasonable charge will be made. Visiting interferes with the school-work. Parents are therefore urged NOT TO ASK PERMISSION FOR THEIR DAUGHTERS TO VISIT the homes of friends, as such requests can not usually be granted. We discourage the frequent visits of the young ladies even to their own homes.

All communications or requests respecting the young ladies should be mailed directly to Mrs. Alice R. Bristow, or to the President of the College.

Gifts, Bequests and Memorials.

It is suggested to those who want to do good with their means either in the name of God, or in behalf of their fellowmen, that there is no use of one's means that yields better results, or endures longer, than that given to aid in the Christian education of our youth. Georgetown College has sent forth men who are worth more to the public than all the money that has ever been given to the institution. Besides, colleges are among our longest-lived things. If one can, he should help while living. Lord Bacon has said: "Defer not charities until death." If unable to help while living, one can make a bequest of money or property to the college. If any one desires it, the gift or bequest may take the form of a memorial of some loved one, living or dead. The following form may be used:

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I hereby give and bequeath to the "Trustees of the Kentucky Baptist Education Society" the sum of . . . . . (or certain bonds, stock, or land, etc.,) to be used by them in the cause of Christian education, in connection with Georgetown College.

When one wishes absolutely to secure to the College a certain gift or property, it is best to transfer the same to the College formally and at once, but retain, if one so wishes, the income or use of the property during his lifetime. This saves unpleasant law suits after one is dead, and secures the College in what one wants to give it.

PAWLING HALL.—This building is named in honor of Issachar Pawling, deceased, and in memory of his name. It was his liberality, joined to his wisdom and foresight, that made Georgetown College a possibility at that early day. He, more than any other person that has lived, deserves the honor of being called the founder of the College. Not a man of great means, yet he gave the whole of it to foster the beginnings of this institution of learning. How rich in blessing have been the results of his benefactions. An imposing front has been added to the original building, but still it is named in memory of its founder.

THE MCCALLA-GALLOWAY PROFESSORSHIP.—In view of a bequest of $15,000 by Major E. C. McCalla, deceased; of $12,600 by W. B. Galloway, Esq., deceased, both of Scott county, and uncle and nephew, the Trustees have established a special Professorship by a combination of the two bequests, calling it the McCalla-Galloway Professorship. By order of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, this Professorship has been transferred to the Chair of Mathematics.

THE MARIA ATHERTON-FARNAM CHAIR OF NATURAL SCIENCE.—This is a fund of $30,000 recently given by John M. Atherton, of Louisville, Ky., for the endowment of the Chair of Natural Science, in memory of his father-in-law, the late Professor J. E. Farnam, LL. D., who filled this Chair with eminent ability for nearly half a century. It is a fitting tribute to the memory of Dr. Farnam, and just the kind of a monument that would have been most appreciated by him as a commemoration of his life-work.

THE BOSTWICK FUND.—This is a fund of $25,000 given by that liberal patron of Christian education, Mr. J. A. Bostwick, of the city of New York. This fund is to be held by the College in perpetuity, and the income to be used for current expenses, or as the Board of Trustees may annually direct.

THE MACKLIN FUND.—This is a fund of $8,000 bequeathed by A. W. Macklin, deceased, of Franklin county, the interest of which goes to help poor young men, called of God to the Gospel ministry, to obtain a liberal education. This fund was given many years ago; the principal remains intact; the interest has helped scores of poor young ministers, some of whom have become eminently useful.

THE NEWTON MEMORIAL AND BEQUESTS.—This is a fund of $5,000 given by Miss Mary J. Newton, of Daviess county, and secured to the "Trustees of the Kentucky Baptist Education Society" by a transfer of valuable property. It is a memorial in perpetuity of Colonel William Newton, of Daviess county, by an affectionate daughter. The income is to be used for the benefit of the Library of the College. The College has secured by the will of Miss Newton, now deceased, an additional donation, the amount of which is not yet fully ascertained.

THE PRATT MEMORIAL.—The basis of this memorial is an interest in an undivided property in Birmingham, Ala., conveyed to the "Trustees of the Kentucky Baptist Education Society" by Rev. William M. Pratt, deceased, of Louisville. This property is to be sold and permanently invested. The principal is to remain in perpetuity and the income to be used for the benefit of the Scientific Apparatus of Georgetown College.

THE PRESIDENT'S READING ROOM.—Dr. R. M. Dudley and wife have each paid one thousand dollars into the treasury as the foundation for a College Reading Room. A handsome Reading Room has been provided in the new College building. The cream of the current periodical literature of this country and England has been placed on file there, and is at the disposal of the Faculty and students.

THE GALLOWAY SCHOLARSHIP.—In his last will and testament William B. Galloway, deceased, of Scott county, placed at the disposal of the Trustees of Georgetown College the sum of $4,400 to be used toward educating indigent young men of said county. This enables the College to offer free five scholarships to such young men of Scott county. If there are more than five applicants, these scholarships will be awarded upon competitive examination and upon the following added conditions, subject to the approval of the Trustees:

1. Those bidding for the highest courses of study shall have the preference, other things being equal.

2. A failure to improve the opportunities offered, by the successful applicant, may lead to the forfeiture of the scholarship at the discretion of the Faculty. In this event the forfeited scholarship shall pass to the next best candidate.

Competition is free to all of the class designated in Mr. Galloway's will. Apply to the President.

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP.

The Trustees of the College offer the privilege to any one who may desire it, of erecting in connection with Georgetown College a perpetual memorial of any loved one, living or dead, by the payment of one thousand dollars and upward. When the donor does not designate some friend, his or her own name may be entered upon the memorial list. But the memorial will not be established until the full amount is paid. The following names and memorials are herewith entered:

S. S. Miner, deceased, Maysville	$1,000
George W. Norton, deceased, Louisville	1,000
Mrs. Dollie A. Seeley, deceased, by B. W. D. Seeley, Midway	1,000
A. L. and Mrs. A. E. Wright, Versailles	1,000
A. H. Weathers, by Mrs. Martha Weathers, Lexington	1,000
Josie Evans Farris, by her father M. J. Farris, Danville	1,000

OUR NEEDS.

1. A Pipe Organ for the College Chapel. This would cost probably $2,000. We hope to find some generous friend who will supply this need.

PAWLING HALL.

2. An Endowed Lecture Course of $5,000. The interest of this sum would secure us, each year, a course of lectures from the most distinguished men in the country.

3. An Academy building, with a Dormitory attached, in which small boys who are too young to be thrown upon their own responsibility might find a home. The building would cost $15,000.

4. An endowment to help poor girls in securing an education.

It will be designated "The Woman's Endowment." The good women of Kentucky will be asked to contribute to this object the sum of $50,000. Of course we do not expect to have all needs supplied at once or without effort on our part. We feel however, that the College has such a host of friends we may confidently expect every reasonable need supplied when it is placed before them.

THE OUTLOOK.

The outlook was never brighter. The College has more enthusiastic friends than ever in its history. It is more widely and favorably known than ever before; its students are loyal and devoted to its best interests; its graduates are proud of their Alma Mater and are ready to extend it a helping hand. Its endowment is increasing and its facilities for usefulness are multiplying. Rucker Hall, the girls' dormitory, furnishes the most delightful home for girls to be found in all the South; and the splendid halls for boys, well regulated and presided over by cultured and refined women who are chosen by the Faculty, give opportunity for the formation of clubs, in which board is secured at greatly reduced rates. The magnificent gymnasium gives opportunity for regular and systematic exercise. The Reading Room, Library and Literary Societies furnish every facility for improvement of the mind in leisure hours. The Department of Music has been a very important feature of College work. The Art School is in charge of a very competent instructor. The Department of Elocution and Physical Culture is one of great practical importance and exerts a very helpful influence in Literary work. In all departments thoroughly honest work is winning for the institution the respect of an ever-widening circle of friends.

With all it advantages of age, reputation, location and health; its great army of graduates scattered all over the South; its students and friends continually multiplying, the Trustees of Georgetown College feel they have abundant reason to thank God and take courage.

To Him to whom it was consecrated by our fathers in the beginning, and whose blessing has ever attended it, we commend it for the future.
